Lukáš Bauer, Czech Olympic Medalist

FOREWORD OF PRESIDENT OF THE CZECH OLYMPIC COMMITTEE

After four years, the best men and women athletes from all five continents will gather again to take part in the Olympic Games, the world's most prestigious sport event. In Canada, a magnificent country known for sports and the amount of snow, Czechs will be among those competing for medals.

The Czech Olympic team that will head to Canada is the biggest Czech representation in the modern history of the Olympics. I am convinced that the Czech team will represent the Czech Republic with dignity and success. We have several leaders aspiring to the best positions in various sports and disciplines.

It would be great if the ice hockey team repeated the outstanding result we witnessed twelve years ago in Nagano. The Czech team won the tournament, known as "the tournament of the century", knocking out the Canadians in the semi-final after an end to end fight. The current team is represented by just one member of that victorious team, Jaromír Jágr. Even this year, it would be great to win one of the medals.

Another great Czech hope is Martina Sáblíková, a leading speed skater, who has won a number of World and European championships. Experienced ski cross competitor Tomáš Kraus, the four-time World cup winner, has a good chance to win a medal, too. Lukáš Bauer, a cross-country skier, a silver medallist from Torino and winner of Tour de Ski (2009/2010, 2007/2008), has also high ambitions. Downhill skier Šárka Záhrobská has achieved excellent results as well. Nikola Sudová will be trying to confirm her ability in moguls, while figure skater Tomáš Verner will be looking for success on ice.

There will be numerous other Czech men and women athletes competing for success. I hope and trust that they will enjoy fantastic Games in an unforgettable atmosphere and that the worldwide media will provide them and their achievements with the coverage they deserve.

Milan Jirásek

President of the Czech Olympic Committee

CZECH REPUBLIC

THE PROUD HEART OF EUROPE

The Heart of Europe – so has been, from time immemorial, labelled the country of ten million inhabitants, proud of its cultural and historical treasures. The geographical location on the crossroads of all important European regions attracted attention of neighbours and ensured participation of the country in every historical, epoch-making event of Europe. Nevertheless, this may be the reason why – in spite of more than thousand years of tradition – the Czech Republic belongs amongst one of the youngest states in the map of the world.

The existence of the independent Czech state is mentioned in connection with accession of the Přemyslide dynasty in the 9th century. During the following centuries the Czech lands enjoyed periods of full bloom – with the City of Prague being a centre of European literacy and culture, followed by periods of decline and national devastation. So it was in Prague where King Charles IV founded the oldest university east of the Rhine in 1348. Similarly, it was also in Prague where the year 1618 marked the beginning of the Thirty Years' War. From the 17th century onwards the Czech lands were part of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy. The Czech nation was re-established as a result of World War I in 1918 – in Czechoslovakia. The country enjoyed prosperity in the twenties, went through World War II and subsequent 40 years of a communist totalitarian regime. In 1993 Czechoslovakia split into two independent countries – the Czech Republic and Slovakia – only to meet again on May 1, 2004 under the flag of 15 stars as two new members of the European Union.

Favourable natural conditions of the country enable tourist attendance all year round. The whole territory is situated in the centre of a basin defined by border mountains. The Giant Mountains, the Krušné Mountains or the Šumava along the German frontier present ideal conditions for winter sports. Lovers of various types of tourism are attracted by a rich net of rivers and streams, vast karstic territories and a varied structure of landscapes.

The Capital of Czech Republic – Prague – is one of the most visited cities in the world. You may admire monuments in a variety of architectural styles spread over a relatively small area of the City, all this in an unrepeatable atmosphere. Typical narrow lanes of the historical centre with monuments such as Charles Bridge, Prague Castle, Old-Town Astronomical Clock and many others, represent a real cultural patrimony of the whole country. The attention of many tourists is also attracted by old Jewish Synagogues, The Tyn Cathedral and the so-called Royal Route – a two-hour walk which enables tourists to visit the most splendid Prague monuments.

In spite of its today's limited resources and long years of isolation, the Czech Republic is making itself a name again and a position in the world. Its image and prestige is formed today not only by the famous Škoda brand and high quality Czech beer. On top of that, Czech athletes are conquering the respect and admiration of the sports family all over the world. Good results of Olympic athletes write important chapters of modern Czech history.

CZECH AND SLOVAK ATHLETES IN WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES

As early as 1899 a passionate skater and skier Josef Rössler-Ořovský proposed in vain to the French organizers of the IInd Olympic Games in Paris 1900 that Czechs would organize their winter part in the Czech mountains of Krkonoše (The Giant Mountains). And yet again, it was the same promoter of many sports disciplines who at the end of May 1925, invited all participants of the VIII international Olympic Congress in Prague to subsequently recognize the Week of Winter Sports in Chamonix in February 1924 as the Ist Winter Olympic Games and to approve their organization for the future.

Nevertheless, representatives of Czechoslovakia participated in Olympic events of winter sports already at the VIIth Olympic Games in Antwerp 1920. For our hockey players, one single goal scored by player Šroubek against the Swedes was sufficient to win a bronze medal after high losses to Canada and USA.

Since 1924 Czechoslovak and since the nineties Czech delegations have not left out one single Winter Olympic Games. Regular participants in Olympic events are especially hockey-players, skiers and figure skaters who have been gradually supported by representatives of other winter sports.

CZECH AND SLOVAK ATHLETES IN WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES

Czech-German skier Rudolf Burkert won first medal for Czechoslovakia in Winter Olympic Games in St. Moritz as early as 1928 because he succeeded to wedge in amongst Scandinavian competitors. Forty years later, at the X Winter Olympic Games in Grenoble 1968, it was another skier – Jiří Raška – who conquered first „winter“ gold medal on the K 90 jump. After the figure skating gold medal of Ondrej Nepela from Sapporo 1972, yet another skier registered in the Olympic annals during the last winter games in Salt Lake City 2002 – Aleš Valenta – whom his triple salto with five full twists brought to the highest Olympic rank. The most famous gold Olympic medal is represented by the victory of Czech hockey-players, headed by Domink Hašek, Vladimír Růžička and Jaromír Jágr in the hockey tournament of the XVIII Winter Olympic Games in Nagano 1998 which, for the first time in history, assembled the best hockey-players of the world.

* Czech athletes only

In the course of the history of the Winter Olympic Games hockey-players have always been the most successful from the Czechoslovak and Czech athletes as they have also won another 4 silver and 3 bronze medals. As for skiers it is necessary to highly estimate results of women ski relays (1984) and men (1988) ski relays, cross-country women runners Helena Šikolová, Květa Jeriová and especially Kateřina Neumannová, the downhill skier Olga Charvátová, ski jumper Pavel Ploc and Jiří Malec and the ski-jumpers team (1992). And as for Czech figure skaters, in various periods Karol Divín, Hana Mašková and Petr Barna stood at the Olympic victory rostrum.

The 2006 Olympic Games in Torino witnessed the lifetime achievement of the cross-country skier Kateřina Neumannová. She crowned her illustrious career by taking the gold in the women's 30-kilometer freestyle and taking silver in the women's 15-kilometer pursuit.

Cross-country skier Lukáš Bauer took the silver in the men's 15-kilometer classical. In ice hockey, the Czech national team beat Russia 3:0 to take the bronze.

The Czech House continues a 14-year old tradition that was started in Atlanta in 1996. It is about to become the centre of the Czech Olympic Movement also during the Games in Vancouver. It is a place where members of the Olympic team, business partners and guests of the Czech Olympic Committee meet. Furthermore, it provides a suitable background for journalists. The Czech House is situated in the luxurious Delta Burnaby hotel with a capacity of 200 rooms. The hotel is easily accessible as it lies on 3 Skytrain routes and on a bus route. The press office can be found on the second floor. It offers internet access as well as photo card readers. The Czech House is also the place where successes of Czech Olympic competitors will be celebrated and press conferences held.
