

The Rise of Generation Z

How is the learner evolving and how are we preparing coaches for this?

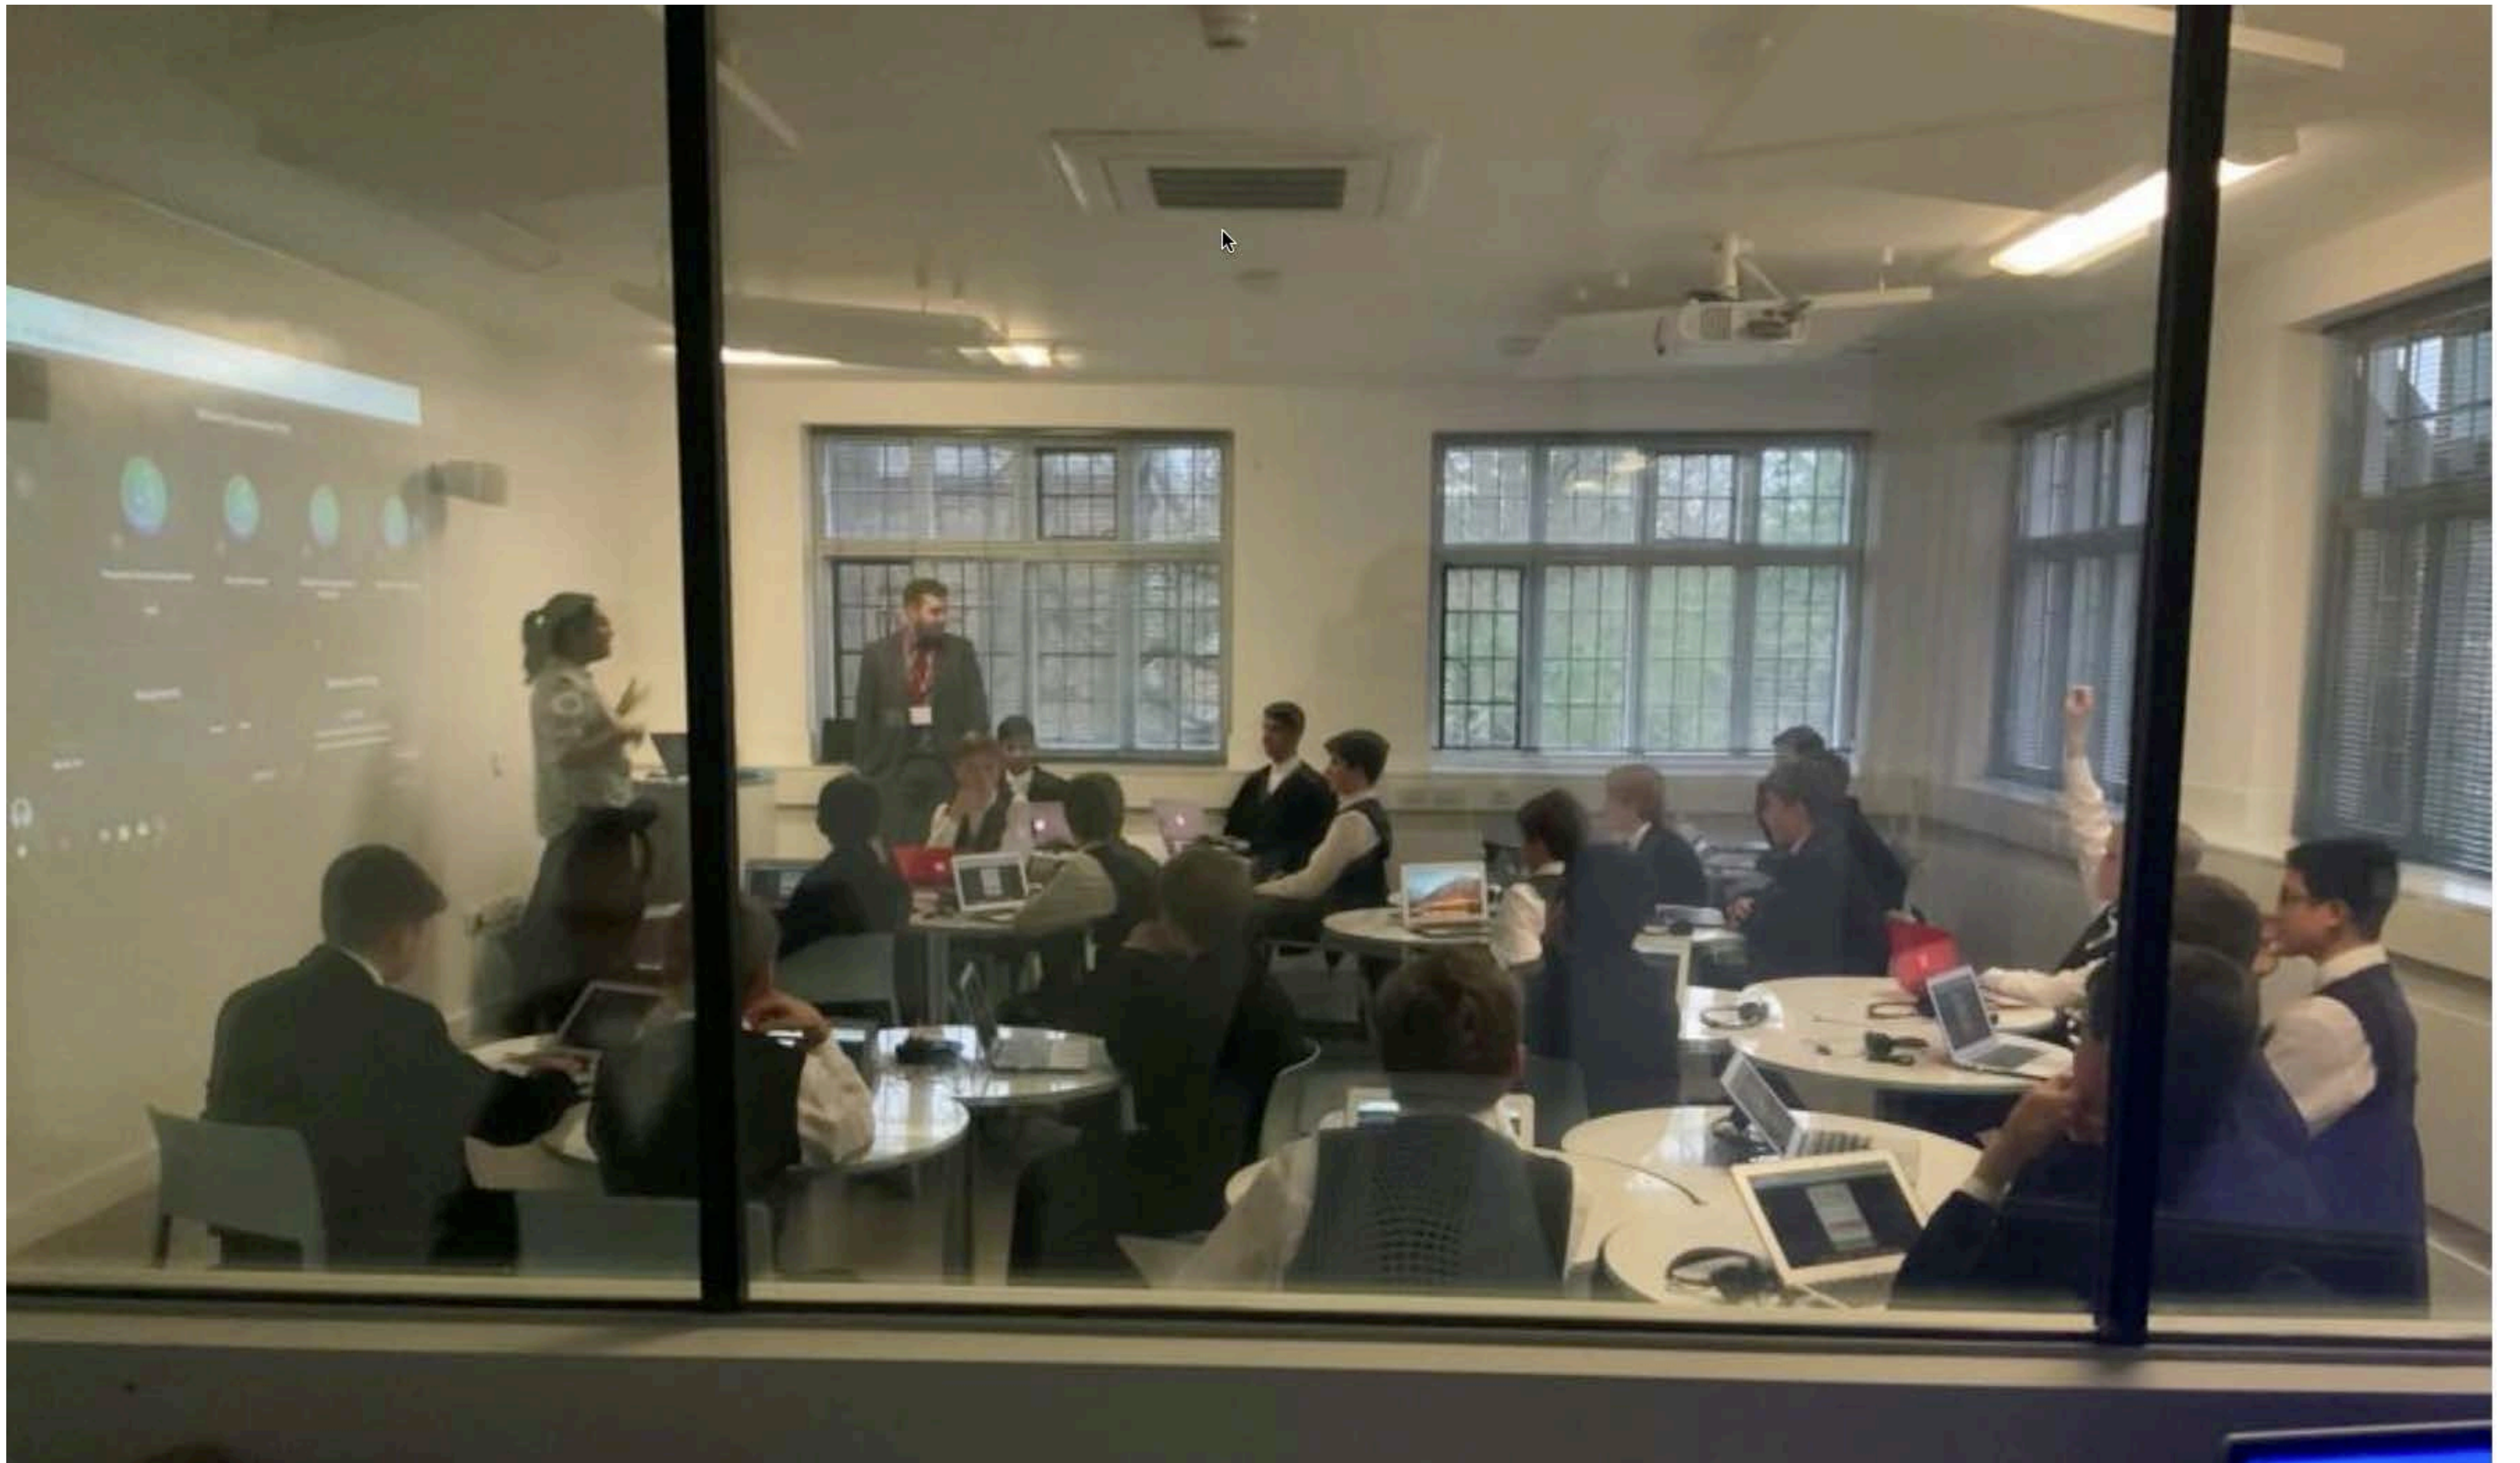

Jonnie Noakes

Director of Teaching & Learning and Director, Tony Little Centre

j.noakes@etoncollege.org.uk

Schools for the 21st century

How do we prepare students for the future? What are the skills and knowledge they need to succeed in the 21st century?

International education is a complex and rapidly changing field. It is a field that is becoming increasingly important in the 21st century. This is because of the increasing globalization of the world and the need for students to be able to work and live in a global environment. This is why it is so important for schools to provide a high-quality international education. This is why it is so important for schools to provide a high-quality international education. This is why it is so important for schools to provide a high-quality international education.

1916

@thomascemurray

Conducting research and enquiry

Skilling teachers up as researchers and enquirers

Combining intuitive identification of problems with analytical evaluation of evidence

Balancing different forms of evidence with experience for evidence-informed practice

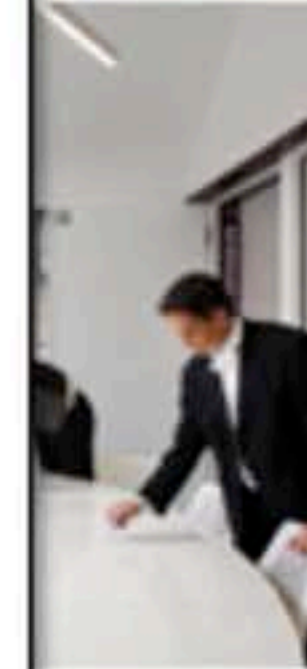

Character Education
Research at
Eton College

RSI Research Study on Happiness at
Eton College

Eton Partners with Researchers to Support Students'
Mindsets and Social Relationships

Today

- What do we know about Gen Z?
- What do they care about and how do they learn?
- How can teach/coach them?

Generation labels

Baby Boomers – 1942-1964
(NB dates are approximate!)

Generation labels

Generation X – 1965-1980

Generation labels

Generation Y (Millennials) – 1981-1996

Generation labels

Generation Z – 1997-2010

Generation labels

Generation Alpha – 2011-present